

Wolf Cry

The Wolf Cry

Twenty and four came each day, . . . to laugh, to study; to learn, to be with friends. And twenty-four came at night, . . . to g or play or be someone else or to be with friends.

Not very many, twenty-four, . . . but quite a few. A small number that did big things. A big number that did those import little things. Twenty-four that worked, but not too much, . . . that played, maybe too much. Athletes and queens, nolars and musicians, builders and officers. Important to some—insignificant to others.

Big today, little tomorrow . . . Twenty-four that worked and played many hours, hours spent with friends, . . . hours that

To our friends we must leave these memories, . . . for we are twenty-four, and we are gone.

Lebo High School Lebo, Kansas

Dedication

The 1968 Wolf Cry is dedicated to Mr. Jerry Teichgraeber for the help and encouragement he has given to the Seniors during the four years as their class sponsor.

He has been concerned with teaching us how to live as contributing members of society, as well as with teaching us history and government. Although we have, at times, been a real "headache," he has worked with us faithfully.

We owe a great debt to all the teachers of Lebo High School, but we feel a special indebtedness to Mr. Teichgraeber.

Thanks, Mr. T.

Freshman Initiation

The freshmen were given their first real taste of high-school life when they were initiated by the seniors. For one whole day, they served as slaves, and even put on exhibit in an assembly. In the evening, the tables were turned as the seniors gave a dance for the new members of our high school.

STANDING: Rebecca Niles, Ann Becker, John Born, Greg Sloan, Norman Spielman, Tom Harred, Corwin Miller, Robert Kimball, Marilyn Kimball, Marilyn Prowell. SEATED: Philip Williams, Barbara Booth, Janet Miller, Robert Smith.

The Student Council is a special means for achieving major educational purposes. Provision for student activities insures a separate approach to citizenship, scholarship, leadership, and humanitarian values. Student Council provides an arena in which students discover and achieve significant learning in honest problem-facing experiences: "Meaningful student participation in important, urgent experiences in an educational context." This is the concept. Logically, then, the purposes for education and for Student Council are fundamentally the same.

The Lebo Student Council has engaged in a variety of activities during the past year. One of the main projects was helping to sponsor Homecoming. After many hours of planning and practice on the football field, the council had to make a few quick changes and move all activities inside to the gymnasium because of the threatening weather.

To try to promote better teacher and student relationships as well as to discuss the problems of the school, the Student Council held a Student Council Day. During the course of the morning the students visited different discussion groups in which they discussed a variety of problems that they felt were found in our school. This project proved to be quite successful, as many good ideas were brought forth.

In March, the Student Council sponsored a Cookie Day. On this day the students brought boxes of cookies to be sent to the men in the services for Easter.

With the cooperation and help of the faculty, students, and organizations, the Student Council has been able to complete a successful year.

"The Curious Savage"

What a way to lose weight!

"I can reach ANIMAL HUSBANDRY."

THAT was a recital?

"The dress is cut rather low isn't it?"

Class History

On August 26, 1964, twenty-seven frightened, anxious freshmen entered Lebo High School—"the halls of higher education." The officers elected for the year were Ann Allegre, president; Pam Schemm, vice-president; Lupe Mendoza, secretary; Barbara Booth, treasurer. Mr. Jerry Teichgraeber was chosen as class sponsor. During the year several members left the class including Connie Robinson, Terry Sullivan, Terry Jean Fleming, Sheryl and Willa Gunterman. Janet Miller was a new member of the class.

The sophomore class of twenty-four students participated in Lebo High more fully. Class officers for this swinging group were Kenton Jones, president; Janet Miller, vice-president; Pam Schemm, secretary; Clair Niles, treasurer; and our faithful and loyal sponsor Mr. Jerry Teichgraeber. Near the end of this year we selected our class rings.

At the beginning of our hilarious junior year, we had two main goals in mind—the Junior-Senior Prom and our future senior trip. In November we presented the comedy "The Adorable Imp". There were several other money-making projects during the year to boost our finances. On April 29, 1967 the seniors were guests at the Junior-Senior Prom, at which the theme "Sayonara" was used. The officers who lead this class in undertaking these tasks were president James Hunter; vice-president Dennis Rosine; secretary Darla Benton; treasurer Ann Allegre; student council representative Philip Williams. Mr. Teichgraeber and Mrs. Edwards served as sponsors. The class was happy to have Marilyn Kimball join them in September.

Steve Kellum joined our group at the beginning of the senior year. Lupe Mendoza did not return to Lebo High School. Twenty-four students began the last year by bringing the senior carnival to the community. Besides the carnival, we earned money by selling fireworks in July, having a doughnut sale, magazine sales, concessions at ballgames throughout the year, the senior play, "The Curious Savage", which was presented in November, a Faculty-Alumni basketball game, and Senior Talent Program. We also served the dinner for the FFA Banquet.

Those who have attended Lebo Public School all twelve years were Gail Allan, Ann Allegre, Carolyn Barnett, Chuck Benedict, Darla Benton, Barbara Booth, Kenny Carlton, Glenda Rae Combes, Michael Croucher, Karen Huddleston, James Hunter, Kenton Jones, Steve Kellum, Margaret Linsey, Clair Niles, Dennis Rosine, Joann Sleed, Doug Thorn, Philip Williams.

Twenty-four nervous seniors marched into the gymnasium for the last time May 20, 1968, graduation night. The best was still ahead! At midnight May 20, wide-eyed, eager seniors left Lebo on their senior trip shouting "California here we come."

THANK YOU

We, the Senior Class of '68, wish to thank the community for the support and encouragement given us during our high school years. Especially do we appreciate the support of the community in making our never-to-be-forgotten senior trip a possibility and a pleasure. A special thanks to our parents for their sacrifices and guidance of these growing-up years. Also, we thank the faculty and school board for giving us encouragement and opportunities for an education.

Prophecy

LEBO ENTERPRISE, June 1, 1988—

Last evening our city was privileged to host a distinguished group. These were members of the Lebo High School graduating class of 1968, observing their twentieth reunion. Several members of the group have become prominent leaders in our state and nation. We will now review, for our readers, what each member of the class is currently engaged in.

Unfortunately, Darla Benton was unable to be with us last night because she had been detained in Iowa somewhere around Mitchellville or Des Moines.

Carolyn Barnett is now driving a truck for the Lebo Grain Company to help support her husband, Gary.

The class's star stunt driver, Gail Allan, has just been promoted to head mechanic for the Don Miller Motors. Her specialty is "56" Fords.

Ron Schemm, one of the nation's leading swine specialists, has recently been elected to the Agricultural Hall of Fame, which is located in Missouri.

Joann Slead, whose desire was to graduate from Kansas State, has finally achieved that goal. She has received her degree in janitorial science.

Ann Allegre, the class brain, graduated from KU and is now a well-established pharmacist in the booming metropolis of Arvonnia.

Mike Croucher, whose voice became his fortune, has turned another golden record with the release of his new hit, "I Can't Live Without LOVE."

Clair Niles and Jim Hunter gained national publicity when it was revealed they had talked to some little green men from outer space. Niles was quoted as saying, "It was a real gone experience."

Our reporter learned that Philip Williams is now designing red barns for the local "cattle baron."

News flash over the teletype! World famous racing driver, Doug Thorne, who honored us with his presence last night, has just won the Grand Prix in his yellow "58" Ford. He left right after the festivities last night in his private jet plane.

Denny Rosine is now conducting his own television show, THE SPORTSMAN'S FRIEND, in the place of Harold Ensley.

Barbara Booth has now been the national advisor for all senior high school Student Councils for five years. She is known for her emphasis of the effectiveness of Stuco.

Karen Huddleston is one of the few who stayed in Lebo. She currently owns a restaurant on the new Interstate Highway. She has been doing very well in her business venture ever since she eliminated all local competition.

After graduating from Kansas School of Business, Glenda Rae Combes has become the private secretary of Kenny Carlton who operates a Ford assembly line in Dearborn, Michigan, where the lemons come from.

Steve Morgan became a glass blower to aid unfortunate victims of "frozen" window panes???

Lebo can now boast about a beauty contest winner. The former Margaret Linsey has been elected "Mrs. Volkswagen of America" to promote Volkswagen's image as a family car.

How sad! Pam Schemm can still be seen riding around the streets of Lebo in a yellow Chevy Super Sport.

Her dream is finally going to come true. Janet Miller is still attending Kansas State, and in a few months will succeed in getting her "MRS." degree.

Chuck Benedict has become a world famous tycoon with a nation-wide chain of hardware stores and lumber yards which originated in Lebo.

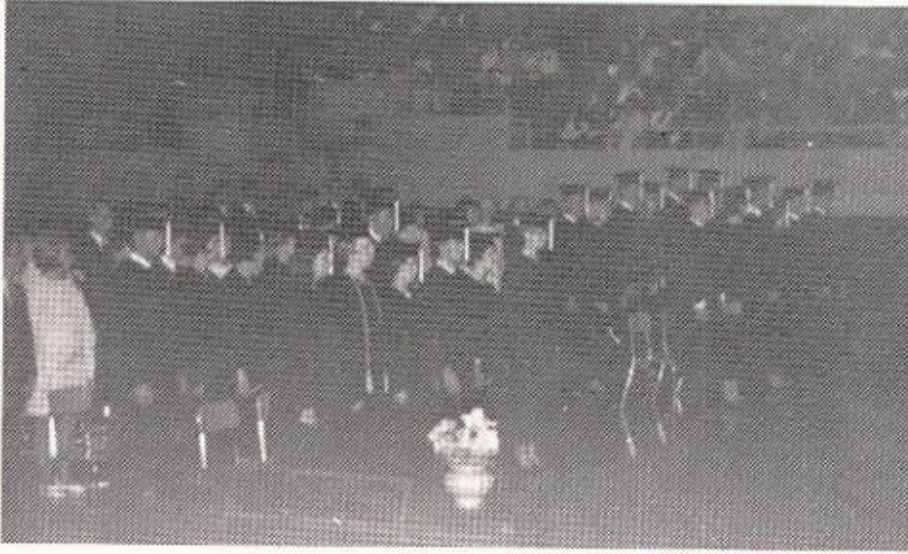

Marilyn Kimball, long time member of the Lonely Hearts Club, has just terminated her membership by her engagement to YOU KNOW WHO.

Steve Kellum has put his great talent, which he learned in the kitchen of LHS, to work. He is washing dishes at Karen Huddleston's local restaurant.

Kenton Jones had a great deal of difficulty getting here tonight. Girls just seem to flock around him since he has been elected "Playboy King of the World."

Oh, the Senior Class of 1968 went down to Mr. Jerry Teichgraeber's house after their reunion to help him lay bricks. He is still attempting to finish his "new" house.
